

By the end of first grade, students should be able to read and write numbers up to 120, perform addition and subtraction with numbers up to 20, and understand basic concepts of place value. They should also have foundational reading and writing skills, including reading and comprehending simple sentences and stories, using phonics, and writing complete sentences. Socially, they should have developed skills in cooperation, sharing, and following rules.

Math

- Numbers and operations: Count to 120, read and write numerals up to 120, and fluently add and subtract with numbers up to 20.
- Place value: Understand the concept of place value to the tens place and solve problems involving two-digit numbers.
- Measurement and geometry: Measure length using non-standard units, tell and write time to the nearest hour and half hour, and identify and describe basic 2D shapes like triangles, squares, and circles.
- Patterns and data: Extend and describe repeating patterns and count by 2s, 5s, and 10s.

Reading and Language Arts

- Reading: Read and comprehend simple books and poems, use context clues to understand the text, and recognize high-frequency words.
- Phonics: Know the sounds of letters, differentiate between vowels and consonants, and blend sounds to decode words.
- Writing: Write complete sentences with correct capitalization and punctuation, and begin to develop ideas in a logical sequence.
- Vocabulary: Learn new words from context and identify synonyms and antonyms.
